

UK Freeforms Presents:

Tales of Pendragon

A Tales of Pendragon Game A Live-Action Role-Playing Weekend

Tales of Pendragon is a live role-playing game about the telling and retelling of the stories from the Saga of King Arthur, previously run in 2004 in the USA.

In this game, you will play an ordinary person who lives in the British Isles during the Middle Ages. You might be a noble, knight, lady, clergy or commoner.

Whoever you are, at the end of the day you like to sit down with your companions and tell the stories from a long ago, when Britain was emerging from the times of the Roman occupation to become a nation.

Many tales were told about Arthur, his people, and his kingdom. Some of these tales contradict one another. It is up to you collectively to determine what really happened in the story of the Boy King and his realm.

You enter Tales of Pendragon as a dweller of those times, someone with mundane hopes and problems.

Over the course of the game you will enjoy and suffer the drama, humour, and irony of life that has befallen men and women since time immemorial.

But in the course of playing out your life you will need to learn lessons from the old stories.

To do this you will take the part of the heroes of those tales and recreate their victories and defeats.

Only then will you understand fully why history took its shape, why triumph and tragedy each had their day.

Everyone will have a chance to play out the tales, taking the parts of fearsome ogres, brave knights, Arthur, Lancelot or Guinevere, and many more.

Courage, Honour, Love, Piety, Wisdom

Join us on 20th to 22nd February 2009, at the West Retford Hotel, Retford, Nottinghamshire

Will Lancelot and Guinevere betray Arthur? Will the Round Table be broken? Will Mordred come to hate his father? All this will be decided by you together with your fellow players. As go the people of Britain, so goes the story of her great heroes.
